

mary taylor wine

www.mt.wine

Arneis

Cantina Flori was born from a genuine passion for viticulture passed down through four generations. The winery is located in the hills of Treiso, a small village in the province of Cuneo, and produces the traditional wines of the area: Langhe Nebbiolo, Barbaresco, Dolcetto d'Alba, and Langhe Arneis.

The cultivation of the vineyards has always been carried out with a deep respect for nature, using the best low-impact technologies to minimize environmental harm. They are also certified under the SQNPI (National Quality System of Integrated Production), a production method that ensures the quality of our products exceeds commercial standards.

This Langhe Arneis is a fresh and elegant example of the classic Piedmontese variety. It has a pale yellow color and a delicate character. On the nose, it reveals a clean bouquet of white flowers, suggesting its crisp nature. On the palate, it is dry and refreshing, with bright acidity that complements its subtle aromas. Light and pure, it pairs beautifully with seafood, light pastas, or fresh salads. A true expression of Arneis, this wine captures the vibrant yet refined character of the Langhe region.

Size: 750ml

Appellation: Langhe DOC

Soil Type: Marine origin, mix of sand and calcareous marl

Varieties: Arneis

Age of Vines:

Farming: Organic

Alcohol: 13.5%

Aging Details: Stainless Steel

