Cantina Flori Moscato d'Asti

From the Flori family of Treiso, a village just up the hill from the beautiful city of Alba in the province of Cuneo, this fourth generation winegrowing family cultivates their varietals on the steep slopes of the Barbaresco and Langhe region. After a century of growing grapes and supplying fruit to the top names in the region, the new Flori generation have decided to follow their best grapes through fermentation into their domaine bottles. The moscato is from a new 13 hectare vineyard (among their 40 hectares in total production). All farming is organic.

Grapes are hand harvested and brought to the cellar where vinification is done in refrigerated stainless-steel tanks. In the cellar, brother and sister team of Noemi and Michele Flori take care to create an authentic wine with native yeast and allows the natural sugars of the grape to shine giving us this gem of a frizzante wine, redolent of white peach, honey and orange blossom.
